This is to express my profound gratitude to my parent (Mr. and Mrs. Ganiyu), for their financial and moral support given to me during my internship programme. May Almighty God preserve them to them to reap the good fruits of their labour (Amen).

My appreciation further goes to the entire management of folleyjane school of fashion for the opportunity given to me to serve and learn in their great establishment.

ABSTRACT

This report indicates that the SIWES objectives are being achieved, although there are some constraints. However if the scheme is not adequately implemented, it will become difficult for graduates to secure employments or make a smooth transition from school to labour market.

During my industrial attachment I was made to know that the operation of SIWES lies on proper supervision. Thus, it becomes necessary that something must be done at the operational level to enhance adequate functioning of the programme. It also contains the objectives of SIWES, bodies involved in the management of SIWES, justification for the training report, brief history about the organization, nature of work done in the department, knowledge acquired, challenges faced in the course of the training and the responsibilities I was engaged to in the department during my SIWES with the department of fashion, during my attachment at Folleyjane School of Fashion and Craft, Ogbomoso, Ibadan. It provides a description of its operations under the department, unit, and divisions to the public and also the description of the responsibilities in the department and organization as a whole.
